Lunipaper srl ha sede in Lunigiana, terra il cui territorio è diviso tra le regioni Liguria e Toscana.

Rinomata per le eccellenti colture olio vinicole, sul suo territorio si possono ammirare decine e decine di castelli e torri.

La sua posizione peculiare permette di raggiungere facilmente il mare delle Cinque Terre e l'Appennino Tosco-Emiliano.

Lunipaper, presente sul mercato da più di 20 anni, è stata una delle prime aziende a credere in un prodotto che è diventato di largo consumo negli anni successivi: la busta portaposate con tovagliolo.

La continua ricerca di innovazione e materiali, unita alla preziosa collaborazione con nostri clienti, ci ha permesso nel tempo di crescere ed aggiungere alla nostra produzione altri articoli, quali tovaglie e tovagliette, oltre che ideare nuove tipologie di portaposate.

Ricerca e sviluppo al servizio dell'ambiente ci hanno portato, nel 2018, a brevettare la prima busta portaposate priva di materie plastiche, completamente biodegradabile e riciclabile.

Lunipaper srl is based in Lunigiana, a land whose territory is divided between the regions of Liguria and Tuscany.

Renowned for its excellent oil and wine cultivations, on its territory you can admire dozens and dozens of castles and towers.

Its peculiar position allows to easily reach the sea of the Cinque Terre and the Tuscan-Emilian Apennines.

Lunipaper, present on the market for more than 20 years, was one of the first companies to believe in a product that has become widely used in the following years: the cutlery bag with napkin.

The continuous search for innovation and materials, combined with the valuable collaboration with our customers, has allowed us over time to grow and add to our production other items, such as tablecloths and placemats, as well as create new types of cutlery holders.

Research and development in the service of the environment led us, in 2018, to patent the first plastic-free cutlery bag, completely biodegradable and recyclable.
